SALZBURG INTERVIEW

DIANE RICHLER, KEYNOTE SPEAKER

“Exclusion from the regular education system needs to be understood as an abrogation of rights”

Ms. Richler has served as Executive Vice President of the Canadian Association for Community Living, president of Inclusion International, chair of the International Disability Alliance, the coalition of global and regional organisations of persons with disabilities and was one of the civil society leaders in the negotiation of the UN CRPD. In the build up to the conference she has agreed to answer some questions for us. Read more

SOME OF THE TOPICS:

ACCESSIBLE VOCATIONAL EDUCATION AND TRAINING FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

People with disabilities are often unable to complete official Vocational Education and Training (VET) programmes, and have to participate in tailor - made VET courses, which unfortunately do not grant the student any official certification. Read more

ARTICLE 24 OF THE UNITED NATIONS CONVENTION ON THE RIGHTS OF PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

The right to inclusive education is universal and must extend to all human beings, including children, youth and adults with disabilities as enshrined in article 24 of the United Nations Convention. Read more
